

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A system comprises a computer system comprising a central processing unit coupled to a memory and resource management application. A plurality of different automatic speech recognition (ASR) engines is coupled to the computer system. The computer system is adapted to select ASR engines to analyze a speech utterance based on resources available on the system.